Project finance support—from conception to close

Tetra Tech provides comprehensive, individually tailored project finance support to help clients deliver energy, water, transportation, and other critical infrastructure across the globe. Our independent financial advisory services complement our technical expertise throughout the project life cycle—from feasibility studies through structuring, negotiating, and financial close—making Tetra Tech a full-service provider for developers, investors, utilities, and lenders. Companies and governments worldwide trust Tetra Tech to structure and arrange financing, advise on public-private partnerships (PPP), and negotiate final agreements that bring projects to life.

Full Lifecycle Financial Advisory Services

Due Diligence and Risk Assessment

We perform financial and commercial due diligence and have the depth of experience to identify and assess project risks and develop tailored mitigation strategies.

Development Support and Feasibility

We recognize that early preparation is key to project success and include development support and feasibility studies as part of our integrated service package.

Bids & Tendering

Our expert team supports bidding and tendering processes for a range of client needs, including asset procurement, management services, contracts, privatization, and public-private partnerships.

Credit Analysis and Negotiations

Tetra Tech performs comprehensive credit analysis and assists its clients in project negotiations at every step, from early development through financial close, including principal project agreements.

Capital Structuring and Modeling

Our team is experienced in designing financial models, capital structuring, and financing plans that are based on the unique commercial, legal, and financial features of each project.

Capital Raise

Tetra Tech works closely with its clients to fully understand their strategic goals and helps them raise capital to finance their projects with the most optimal debt to equity mix and beneficial terms.
